

STACIE JENKINS, RN, MSN, Sr. Director of Quality and Patient Safety, has over twenty-four (24) years of nursing and nursing leadership experience. Her professional experience includes clinical nursing in a variety of settings, as well as leadership experience in the areas of risk management, quality/performance improvement, case management, infection control, and compliance, including DHH and TJC. Ms. Jenkins is a member of ASHRM, holds a national certification in the care of high risk neonatal nursing, and holds a Master Degree in Nursing Informatics from Walden University. Her experience in healthcare has lead to her ability to provide professional consulting services in the area of risk management, patient safety, performance improvement, loss prevention, trend analysis, on-site risk assessment and nursing education involving professional and general liability and worker's compensation.