SERVING OUR VICTIMS: PROSECUTING IN THE AGE OF DOUBT

The pursuit of justice is the fuel that fires the prosecutorial engine, and victim assistance lies at the heart of justice. The public's awareness about social justice issues has changed how people view prosecutors, in particular, and the criminal justice system, in general. We are operating in the "age of doubt." In order to assist victims and their families, prosecutors must navigate this new terrain while garnering trust and finding common ground. Join us for a candid discussion on how to skillfully handle the difficult questions and comments in both victim meetings and the courtroom.
