Community Forum on Climate & Equity

Community forums will take place in New Orleans neighborhoods, where people are most at risk from the impacts of climate change and social inequity.

At the community forums, we will take a close look at how climate change impacts our daily lives in New Orleans. We will also share the work of community-based organizations and local groups who have found ways to improve conditions in our neighborhoods through responsible city-wide action. These improvements include new small business and employment opportunities, more transportation options, reducing waste, and smart cost-efficient energy systems.

Most importantly, we want to listen to you. Your voice matters in how we move forward as a city to achieve equitable climate solutions. Join us at the community forum.

The Community Forum on Climate & Equity is part of a joint endeavor between the City of New Orleans and the Greater New Orleans Foundation in partnership with the Deep South Center for Environmental Justice and the Gulf Coast Center for Law & Policy.
