International: Compliance as a Strategic Advantage

In an ever-changing and increasingly complex regulatory environment, community banks need to be aware of all the trends, issues and legislative decisions that are shaping the current compliance landscape. Constant vigilance and continuing education are critical when it comes to effectively managing the demands and requirements faced by today's financial institutions.

Join us for an informational webinar focusing on compliance best practices and leveraging it as a competitive advantage. We'll take you through a number of topics and issues facing the industry, with timely information and real-life examples provided by our featured expert speaker, Stephen Kuhl, CFA.

Many business and personal transactions are made to international sources in all parts of the globe. If you don't support these types of operations adequately, your customers may be forced to use a competitor with more capabilities. As everyday finance moves beyond domestic markets, banks can't afford to be left behind.

Guest speakers: Stephen Kuhl, CFA has over 25 years of experience in the financial industry and will demonstrate how embracing international opportunities is vital for the future of banking and customer satisfaction. Bruno Papa has 20 years of experience developing and strategizing international payment initiatives for financial institutions across North America.
