"Justice In His Time, Not in Mine"

Psalm 10

Opening Discussion

- As we near the final months of 2025, how are people feeling about some of the significant headlines and events that have unfolded this year?
- How do you normally respond when you see that an injustice has occurred?
- What's your feelings about the way the Lord chooses to bring about justice in His own timing?

Key Observations

I. The Tension

- Ps. 13:1; 35:17; 89:46; 94:2-4

II. The Tone

- Expressive, aggressive, and progressive

III. The _____

- A. God is in _____
 - Ps. 46:10; Pro. 19:21; Col. 1:16-17; Dan. 2:20-21; Isa. 45:5-7
- B. God _____
 - Isa. 1:17; Mic. 6:8; Jam. 1:27; Mat. 9:35-38; Mat. 25:31-46
- C. God's justice will _____
 - Rom. 12:19; Ecc. 3:17; 2 The. 1:4-10; Heb. 9:27-28; Rev. 20:12-13

The Bottom Line

God's Justice will come for the wicked. It will happen in His time, His way, and for His Glory alone. As God's instruments, we must focus our energy on protecting and serving those who are afflicted and oppressed, for the Lord will deal with the wicked.

Personal Follow Up

- Are you living in wickedness? You can change today if you turn your heart to Jesus.
- Read and meditate on Matthew 25:31-46.
- Is there an area of injustice that breaks your heart? How is God calling you to respond?
- Are you involved in the local church? Prayerfully consider joining the mission of the church as a step forward in serving those affected by injustice.
